

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A battery chamber, in which a dry cell or a battery pack is selectively loaded, is provided in a corner of a digital camera. The battery pack is inserted through a loading gate of 5 a side surface of the digital camera, and plural dry cells are inserted through a loading gate in a bottom surface thereof. Four holes are formed in the loading gate in the bottom surface, and the dry cells are inserted in the respective holes. The loading gate in the side surface has a large size according to 10 a shape of the battery pack. In the battery chamber, contact segments for dry cells and contact segments for battery pack are respectively provided.